FOREWORD

We, the Class of '55, have spent twelve of the happiest years of our lives together. In preparing this eighth edition of The Agricola, we hope to bring cheer and happiness to the ones who turn through the pages.

Here's hoping we have brought sunshine to our several teachers. Our fondest memories will be cherished and remembered as long as we may live.

Signed
Betsy Harward

SCHOOL DAY MEMORIES

For the future we do strive
We the class of '55
Can see the future shining afar,
For we know Burnsville has been our guiding star.
We often sit in our classrooms,
Wondering how our future will be,
So with smiling faces, we take our places.
Not in school, but for our life we shall see.
We have finally won our goal.
In the future times does roll.
The group you now see,
Seniors at Burnsville, no more will be.

Signed,
BETSY HARWARD

CLASS HISTORY

Here at last we have reached our Senior year. Everyone has a feeling of having attained something well worth while. It is typical for people who have completed a job to look back over the steps taken to accomplish it.

Four years ago we entered Burnsville High as Freshmen. We were highly excited and full of enthusiasm. We did not know where to go or what to do. Our principal was Mr. A. B. Collins. On the faculty were Mrs. Mary Dockery, Miss Nora Carpenter, Mrs. Sosa Simpson, and Mr. Abe Marion.

By our Sophomore year we knew our way around better. We were all pleased to learn that Mr. S. M. Kale was our principal. New additions to the faculty were Mrs. Frank Tucker and Mr. W. C. Leonard. Other teachers were Mrs. Dockery, Mrs. Simpson, Mr. Marion and Mrs. Tenney.

Then came our Junior year. We had many parties. We enjoyed giving a Fall Festival and Junior-Senior Banquet. Our teachers were Mr. Kale, Mrs. Simpson, Mrs. Dockery, Mrs. Tenney, Mr. Marion, and Mr. Copper.

At last we have reached our greatest year. We greatly appreciate the help that Mrs. Simpson has graciously given us.

We have lost three of our members this year. They are Deborah Howard, Betty Baucom, and J. B. Drye.

Our teachers are Mr. Kale, Mrs. Dockery, Mrs. Simpson, Mr. Tice, and Mr. Marion.

Now as we must look toward the future, we face the problem of deciding what we shall do with our lives after graduating. We are sure that each member of this class will be a success in whatever he undertakes, and that in the years to come this high school will be proud of us.

JOKES

Ethel—I don't like all these flies.
Ted—Pick out the ones you don't like and I'll kill the rest.

(After being away for a long time Bill returns to his family doctor for a check-up).
Doc—How are your kidneys?
Bill—Well, they're al grown up now and most of them are married and have families.

Cary—My brother wants me to help him with his income tax.
Margaret—But you can't read or write.
Cary—Heck, he don't want me to read or write, he wants me to pay it.

Joanne—I hate to remember my youth.
Rebecca—Why, what happened?
Joanne—Nothing.

Nellie—How did John get such a large bump on his head?
Stanly—It's because of his poor English.
Nellie—How could that be?
Stanly—We were putting in a fence post, and he said, "I'll set this post in the hole. Then when I nod my head, you take the hammer and hit it." So I did.

Elgie was applying for admission to a charity institution.
Manager—What is your occupation?
Elgie—I used to be an organist.
Manager—And why did you give it up?
Elgie—The monkey died.

Bertha—Girls are never too fat.
Betsy—Why?
Bertha—They're just too short for what they weigh.

Elizabeth—This is certainly a wet section of the country. What do you raise here?
Barbara—Umbrellas.

Stella—Betty, if you mowed twenty lawns at a dollar and a half a lawn, what would you have?
Betty Sue—A new bicycle.

Cary Baucom
Ted Kiker

PROPHECY

Dreaming day by day

Of our classmates far away

We, the Class of '55

Looking at the future as we strive.

As we look we see Betty Sue Thomas becoming President of the United States.

Before our eyes we see a subway from which Barbara Thomas is stepping. She is coming from work where she poses for the cover of the True Story Book.

Then we see Stanly Burris walking down the street with a girl; remember, he was the most bashful boy in the class.

Now we see a hospital with Nellie Harward as head nurse. She always talked in school of becoming a nurse.

Remember Elizabeth Mitchum, who always dressed so neat? She now owns a fashion shop in New York.

When we went to solicit ads, Ted and Cary always went to the pool room; now they're playing professional pool.

Betsy and Ned now have a restaurant, with Betsy always cooking Ned's Famous Dessert.

We can hear cheering, and as we look, we see Joanne Edwards now being crowned "Miss America," an honor she has always wanted.

Rebecca and Cecil now own a farm near George Wright's living with their three kids.

Now we see a large gym, with our own star basketball player, Stella Smith, coaching basketball.

We also see another gym with Bill Thompson coaching the famous Globe Trotters.

Now a picture comes before our eyes, with Elgie Braswell sitting at a desk writing his third edition of the "New Trim Look." Bertha Edwards says, "It's the best book yet."

Our dreams are broken. As we finish writing the prophecies of '55, we see our classmates as they used to be.

Margaret Taylor

Ethel Edwards

MEMORIES

Classmates, as we close our books at Burnsville, and start our journey onward, may this help you to remember the many sad and happy days.

Stella Smith, we give you this whistle to remind you of the many referees you have attracted.

Stanly Burris, we give you this wave clip to remind you of your many waves.

Elizabeth Mitchum, we give you this little soldier boy to remind you of yours in uniform.

Ted Kiker, we give you this baby doll to remind you of the many times you robbed the cradle.

Margaret Taylor, we give you this white sidewall tire to remind you of the ones Jack has on his car.

Cary Baucom, we give you this Ford to remind you of the many times you tore up yours.

Rebecca Allen, we give you this wedding ring to remind you of the one you received in the eleventh grade.

Barbara Thomas, we give you this curler to remind you of your own curls.

Billy Thompson, we give you this book to remind you of the many you left at school.

Betsy Harward, we give you this diamond to remind you of Charles.

Elgie Braswell, we give you this horn to take the place of yours on the bus.

Bertha Edwards, we give you this iron to iron out your blues.

Betty Sue Thomas, we give you this bar of candy to remind you of the ones you sold while working in the school store.

Ethel Edwards, we give you this little French book to remind you of the times you couldn't do your homework.

Nellie Harward, we give you this chewing gum to remind you of the popping in French.

Joanne Edwards, we give you this date book to remind you of your many dates.

Rebecca Allen

Joanne Edwards

CLASS WILL

We, the Senior Class of '55 of the Burnsville High School, County of Anson, and State of North Carolina, being of sound mind and memory do herefore make, ordain, publish, and declare this to be our last will and testament.

I, Stella Smith, will my ability to play basketball to Carolyn Allen (may you always win).

I, Ted Kiker, will my ability to make wisecracks to Lewis Preslar.

I, Margaret Taylor, will my big mouth to Elizabeth Turner (may she never get any louder than she is).

I, Betsy Harward, will my place in the lunchroom to Jean Edwards.

I, Billy Thompson, will my flirty ways to Cecelia Edwards.

I, Nellie Harward, will my typing ability to Josie Woodard.

I, Barbara Thomas, will my sentimental dreams to Sue Thomas.

I ,Bertha Edwards, leave my ability to lead the teachers around with a string to Edith Smith.

I, Betty Sue Thomas, will my ability to blush to Julia Moore (but it is not much help in an embarrassing moment).

I, Rebecca Allen, leave my ability to get along with people to Margaret Edwards.

I, Elizabeth Mitchum, will my personality to Patsy Smith.

I, Joanne Edwards, will my habits of "love 'em, fool 'em, and leave 'em" to Deanna Thomas.

I, Cary Baucom, leave my ability to play basketball to Donald Caudle.

I, Stanly Burris, leave my ability to sleep in class and get by with it to Charlie Godwin.

I, Elgie Braswell, leave my place in the store to Patricia Edwards.

I, Ted Kiker, will my ability to date the eighth grade girls to M. L. Taylor.

I, Elgie Braswell, leave my bus to J. W. Russell.

I, Stanly Burris, will my little car to Gerald Johnson so he will always have a way to go see Carolyn.

I, Ethel Edwards, will my shyness to Junior Braswell.

CLASS GRUMBLER

Betty Sue says she doesn't know her test,
But when the papers are checked, hers is best.

Margaret has such pretty clothes,
Why in the world can't she catch some beaux?

Stella is always combing her hair,
She and someone would make a good pair.

Elgie likes to be the boss,
Someone just needs to give him a toss.

There's no one who enjoys sleeping better than Stanley,
It looks as if he could act a little more manly.

People think that Cary is cute,
I just wonder if he can toot a flute.

Bertha grumbles about being so fat,
I can't see where she gets that!

Ethel grumbles about other people's chewing gum,
I think she's jealous because she hasn't some.

There's nothing worse than Billy.
When he's acting silly.

Barbara dates a lot of boys,
She's overcrowded with smiles and joys.

Rebecca enjoys telling teachers of their good looks,
That's so she can make better grades in her books.

Ted thinks there's nothing like Joye,
He just hasn't seen her with another boy.

In typing Joanne has to think twice,
To please her teacher, Mr. Tice.

I know Elizabeth just loves her French,
Until someone asks her the word for pinch.

After going to college to be a teacher,
Betsy is thinking of marrying a "preacher."
